The Times' Daily Short Story.

The shell seemed to burst in my very face. There was a flash, an explosion. and I was sent sprawling backward. Why I was not killed I don't know. A fragment broke my arm, but that was all the damage that was done by the shell. The concussion did much more, and either flame or gunpowder or both put my eyes in a critical condition.

The army was moving every day. and what hospitals were established were full. Those for whom there was no room were left in homes along the way, and I was in one of these houses. I lay on a bed with my eyes closed. The surgeon insisted on blinding them, but I protested, and he laid my handkerchlef over them, telling me that if I opened them I would lose my eye-

I lay thinking of home and the care I would receive were I there. We pity the soldier worn with tramping, cold, hunger; we pity him dead. It is not in wounded, with so many of his comrades in like condition that he cannot receive attention. As a starving man hand, or, rather, were I in my own room at home, in my old four post bedstead, my favorite pictures on the had always been familiar on every side. Thus thinking I fell into a semislumber, my day dream merging into sleep dream. My favorite sister came "Poor boy." bent over me and kissed

I was awake. Yet the dream did not ing, but, seizing the bandkerchief, drew carried out to an ambulance where there was room for one more and taken to a hospital. There I remained a short time, then was sent away to get treatment with a view to saving my eyesight. The youngster of twenty-three who could submit to ignorance as to the identity of the one who has kissed him must be indeed untouched by romance. help care for the wounded and under year's freezing will be subjected to the I surely could not. During days and an impulse had taken a kiss from same treatment, and so on for five or nights that I was obliged to sit or lie me. She recognized me the moment six years, when, it is supposed, plants with closed eyes my mind was cou- she saw me again and had turned pale, grown from these seeds will be able stantly on her, for it never occurred to not from fright, but dreading I should to withstand the night frosts which so me that the person could be aught but know her.

John D. Rockefeller's Flight

From Crank With Hair Tonic.

AN INCIDENT OF THE COLF LINKS

Major Blossom of Cleveland Tells of

a Most Remarkable Game With the

Multimillionaire - How Both Fled

When Bottle of Tenle In Supposed

Anarchist's Hand Fell as He Was

Major Carlos H. Blossom of Cleveland, O., who went to New York recently to see the horse show, has been playing golf all summer and fall with his friend and neighbor, John D. Rockefeller; not at the Euclid club nor the public grounds, but at the eightren hole course on Mr. Rockefeller's estate, The Highlands, Cleveland, Major Blossom

had this golfing experience with the great oil magnate to relate, says the

"and of course is bothered with cranks.

who think that a man with money and brains ought to be shot. As a matter of self protection, therefore, he has his golf course surrounded with a high six green coated henchmen, who are see who it is himself. Well, this last month (October) I was playing around with John as usual. We were Just leav-serving man just aside of John gave a yell, 'Look out!' dropped a glass or two

John had dropped his brassy and was off down the hill like a whirlwind, 1

followed along, kind of looking around to see what was the trouble, when all

at once I caught sight of a figure Cying

over the knoll back of us with his hair straight back from his head and something black waving in his hand and a six footer with his green continuis flying coming behind like a steam engine.

hole bunker, bareheaded, of course, 1 ing them.

steel fence and the gates guarded by on to his mouth like a fool.

ing the twelfth tee, I think, when the sir, didn't work.

strictly ordered to let no one pass on broken glass suspiciously. We got up any condition. If any one insists on on our feet, and suddenly when I off his tray, and the next thing I knew my magical hair oll. But allow me, Mr.

"Well, then I started after John, who ing articles from the pockets of the was just clipping the sod off the sixth figures till they can do so without mov

"John is quite rich," said he blandly.

New York Commercial Advertiser:

Jerked Back by a Servant.

ORDER REPORTED REPORE a woman. She was a queenly brunette, a blue eyed blond. I endowed her with every charm of soul and body that a woman can possess. If ever a man was in love with a fancy I was that man.

I recovered and rejoined my command. The stern duties of a soldier somewhat diverted my mind, but were incapable of blotting out the fascina tion, the desire to learn who it was that kissed me. The army had been driven far from the region where I had been wounded, but soon after I rejoined we recovered the lost territory. Finding myself near the bonse where I had been kissed. I rode in search of it and found it deserted. The only bouse near by where I could make inquiries was in the center of a large plantation half a mile distant. There I repaired and. riding up to the veranda, was met by a young girl who at the moment came out of the hall door.

The people of the south whenever Union troops approached suddenly were sure to be disconcerted, for they never knew what treatment they were to experience. The girl turned pale. In order to reassure her I told her that I stuply wished to know what either of these conditions that he really had become if the people who had ocneeds our sympathy, but sick or cupied the house in which I was interested. She told me that they had gone away; that the family consisted of a father, a mother and three grown will pass his time ordering imaginary daughters. As she recovered her equadinners, I dwelt upon the acts of lev- nimity and I pushed my questions as ing kindness my mother and sisters to the daughters she told me that THE BODY AND LIFTS MAN OR WOWAN sentiment. Naturally he bought a book would lavish upon me were they at the youngest was a pretty girl of seventeen, while her sisters were ordinary, one of them an old maid. I told her that she had only added fuel to my wall and decorations with which I curiosity and begged her to tell me more about them. She not only did so. but promised to try to find them for me

We remained in the locality for some time, and I saw her frequently. She to my bedside and, saying softly soon told me that she had seen the family and promised me an interview. but kept putting me off, tantalizing Before her lips were taken from mine me with different stories. Nevertheless I managed to endure the delay, for vanish with the waking. For an in- I was becoming engrossed with th stant longer I felt a pair of lips on young indy herself. She kept on with mine, and they were extremely lifelike. her information, but the statements va-I took no thought of the surgeon's warn- ried from day to day. She declared that the daughters denied my story enit away and opened my eyes. Before tirely. Then the youngest and prettiest my impaired vision became accustomed | had kissed me. The next day it was the to the light the person who kissed me old maid. I began to suspect that I I heard a rumble of wheels at the my heart to the investigator, and the door, a hospital steward and two men investigated ceased to interest me. One bearing a stretcher entered, and I was mooslight night I told her of my love. The corners of her mouth quirked up > in a smile. "But the girl who kissed you?" "I fancy that was a dream."

"It was not." "How do you know?" "Because I was that girl."

OIL KING'S WILD RUN, almost forgot to tell you be never wears

HENRY BALLARD.

caught up John was in the bushes

around the first tee, with his head covered with leaves and-well, we were both pretty scared, I tell you. I crawled in near him, and John cursed his serving man as a coward-the fellow had beat us all out in the run in-and wondered if the crank really would throw

the bomb before Peter caught him,

when suddenly Peter appeared up the hill with the fellow by the coat collar.

We saw that he had a bottle in his bushes when the anarchist sings out:

"'Mr. Rockyfeller, I believe. Well, I

out of his hands and up into the air.

archist looking and and Peter holding

""Thank God! says John, eying the

"'Well,' says John, going right up to

"Bomb? says the anarchist haughti-

"But John and I were through with Training Thieves.

turn on a pivot with the slightest touch. The young thieves practice tak-

ly. 'Your servant, sir, has destroyed

the anarchist, 'your bomb, I am sorry,

been sold. But John dldn't.

Rockyfeller, to'

golf for that day."

Nature's Pepsin BRYAN ON ENGLISH SOIL

IT SHARPENS THE APPETITE.

IT PROMOTES DIGESTION. IT QUICKENS THE GASTRIC JUICE

IT TONES EVERY ORGAN IT SOOTHES THE NERVES.

IT MAKES RICH, RED BLOOD. IT BUILDS THE WHITE CORPUSCLES.

IT BRINGS THE SLEEP OF CHILDHOOD. TO NEW HEIGHTS OF MENTAL AND PHYS-ICAL ENJOYMENT.

ALL DRUGGISTS. LARGE BOTTLE, $1.00. PAW-PAW LAXATIVE PILLS, 25 CENTS PER BOTTLE.

TO HARDEN ARCTIC SEED.

Plan of Swedish Authority to Grew Grains Able to Resist Frost.

In view of the scarcity of seed grain inured to the arctic climate of the norrland and of the fact that Canadian and other foreign grains sown in the vicinity of Stockholm, Sweden, have not produced seed, Paul Hellstrom, chief of the government biological institution at Lules, has projected a method of hardening oats, barley and other plants to frost, says the Chicago News. His plan is to grow the plants in a greenhouse, where the temperature can be was being fooled. Indeed, I had lost regulated by means of a refrigerating machine. The lowest temperature the plants will stand without being frostbitten will first be ascertained. The temperature will then be lowered slightly below this point and the hardy plants that survive left to mature seed for next year.

Seed obtained in this manner will be sown and subjected to a temperature slightly lower than that which the Then she explained that during the parent plants survived. The seed profighting she had gone to the house to duced by the survivors of the second freemently destroy the crops in th norrland. The government has decided to bear the expense of the experiments, which, if they succeed, may a hat playing golf, for the sun exposure avert a recurrence of famine in the he considers a hair tonic. When I northern province.

SENATORIAL REPARTEE.

Colloguy Between Hanna and Proc-ter on Their Merning Greetings.

The other morning salutation between Senator Hanna and Senator Proctor was enlivened by a little repartee, says the Washington Post. The Vermonter came upon the triumphant Ohioan and spoke out curtly, but kindly, in that fine basso profundo voice which has no peer among all the basso hand-that is, the anarchist had-and he had long hair and a red nose. Well, profundos in congress:

"How's the old man?" John yelled out before me: "Hey, there, "You should answer that question Peter! Stop where you are and-and vourself," retorted Senator Hanna, lookdestroy that bomb or do something. ing at the aged beard and towering fig-Can't you see, you idiot? Don't come any nearer?" The anarchist laughed ure of the questioner. "Now, you might not think so," Sensgrimly at this, and I was dumfounded tor Proctor came back as he leaned to see Peter grin too. I, began to suspect a conspiracy and was preparing to against a convenient table, "after I take a flying start back through the had taken you on a hunting expedition or for a day's fishing." "No, no. I'm not going to do that have here'- He held up the bottle, with you," replied Senator Hanna in a but before he could throw it Peter had deprecatory tone, as though he were ready to throw up his hands at the jerked him back, and the bottle went suggestion. But he quickly turned the colleguy to one of Mr. Proctor's hunt-When we took our heads from the ing expeditions in northern New Engground there the bottle lay, emptying a land not many weeks ago that ended in red liquid into the grass, and the anan appearance before the local magis trate for shooting out of season. He made Mr. Proctor tell how he spied the raccoon which brought him so much publicity over the country up coming in-myself for example-John looked at those two fellows I began to a tree, whereupon the two senators always comes down from the house to feel a bit uneasy and as though I'd were willing to call it quits on their morning salutation.

> NO KISSING IN ZION CITY. Ukuse Against Osculation Issued by

Dowle. "No kissing in Zion" is General Overseer John Alexander Dowle's latest battleery, says a Wankegan (III.) dispatch. Lovers and others inclined to the exercise of the ancient art of kissing are likely to have a sorry time of it henceforth, for the flat of the master of In a school for pickpockets in Paris Zion has gone forth, and this means there are a number of dammies which that Zion City is to be kissiess. One Zion City foung man has already felt the wrath of Elljah III, as a result of the antikissing ukase. The other night he gave one of the occasional parties which constitute the social pleasures of the community.

made to Dowie bright and early the of a receiver. next morning by one of his omnipresent detectives that he had seen a tender cavaller and one of Zion's coy maideus. All draggists refund the money if it fails. The host has been forbidden to give to cure. E. W. Grove's signature is on any more parties.

Noted Nebraskan's Method of Sightseeing In London.

MISSES LITTLE AND QUESTIONS ALL

Tradeamen, Policemen and Cabbies. Porters, as Well as Ambassadors and Others of Distinction, Arc Thoroughly Questioned - He Absorbs Enewledge at Every Stage and Heets Tipping Problem Without Flinching.

During the course of his systematic sightseeing in England, William Jennings Bryan, the noted Nebraskan, lunched at the Cheshire Cheese tayern, en Fleet street, London, occupying the seat which, according to a tablet in the wall, was the favorite seat of Dr. Samuel Johnson, and remarked that he would know the portrait anywhere because of the family resemblance to Tom Johnson, says Charles Michelson in a special cable dispatch from London to the New York American. Mr. Bryan's lunch consisted of stewed steak; but, being a tectotaler, he had to forego the bitter beer which Dr. Johnson found so acceptable. He copied from the menu the Johnson quotation, "No, sir, there is nothing which has been contrived by man by which IT PUTS THE INVIGORATING THRILL OF so much happiness has been produced PERFECT HEALTH INTO ALL PARTS OF as by a good tavern," and indersed the about the place, as he buys a book about everything he sees and, what is more, reads them.

Bryan is about the most conscientious sightseer that ever-the world's metropolis identified, and it does identify Bryan. Wherever he goes he is recognized, and there is about as much curlosity about him as there is about the king of Italy, who is also in London. It was this king who gave Bryan his first sight of royalty. Bryan was returning from the Cheshire Cheese when a procession escorting the visiting ruler came along the Thames embankment from Guildhall, and the apostle of Democracy found himself hemmed in by a crowd in front of Somerset House. The embankment was lined with soldiers and policemen, and Bryan soon found what was expected and waited on the sidewalk for the royal carriage to come.

King Edward was not in the procession, but the Prince of Wales and the Duke of Connaught were. So Mr. Bryan had a good view of them; also of the king and queen of Italy. Their majesties looked a good deal bored by the whole proceeding, and something of the same expression was noticed on the face of the great Nebraskan.

His only comment on the royal parade was that the English people seemed to take their dignitaries philosoph-

The next stage in his exploration of London led Bryan to Westminster abbey. The verger took him through and pointed out the tombs of forgotten kings, murdered princes and beheaded notables in the singsong way peculiar to the tribe of exhibitors of famous places. Here, as elsewhere, Bryan was thorough and systematic. First he thoroughly inspected the beautiful building on all sides; then he took the decorations, panels and carvings in the nave and transept, sternly averting his eyes from the monuments and tombs until he had secured a proper impression of their surroundings. Then be went with the verger, and that gowned guide had a new experience. Bryan did not disturb him in his recital of the names and deeds of mere kings and queens, but he cross questioned him closely about every tomb that holds the body of a man distinguished for what he did for the people. He tarried at the spot from which Cromwell's body was torn after the restoration to be hanged and spent much time in the poets' corner. He would not discuss the effect of so much buried royal splendor, but there was with him all the time his son, William junior, and it was easy from the manner in which he called the boy's attention to the violence of the death of so many great ones of English history to read his mind. He was tremendously impressed by the beauty of the abbey itself, but the record of murders, beheadings and violations of the sepulcher made a stronger impression upon him than did the glory of the dukes and kings of England. Bryan differs from the majority of American sightseers in London. He really wants to see and hear and does not care who knows that he is a tenderfoot in London. He questions everybody-tradesmen, policemen, cabbles and porters, as well as ambassadors and others of distinction. He pays all charges without objection and meets the tipping question without flinching, but he asks the cabmen all about themselves, their earnings, their history, and absorbs knowledge at every stage of his journeyings. The souvenir books, guides and catalogues which he has already collected would make a first class start for a library of London reference.

Long Idle Iron Plants Reopen. Reading, Pa., Dec. 1.-After an idleness of several weeks the Oley street and Ninth street mills of the Reading Iron company have resumed, giving employment to 500 hands. The Carpenter Steel works, with the exception of the crucible department, also started up. It is believed this company will continue in steady operation notwith-The shocking unnouncement was standing that it has gone into the hands

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY salute exchanged between a dashing Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. zoich box. 25c.

IT IS YOUR KIDNEYS says the Romoc man, to a fellow traveller, in a parlor

ASK for ROMOC LAXATIVE TABLETS—SURE CURE FOR CONSTIPATION. We have investigated Romes. We know that all that is said by the Remos man pertaining to this wonderful remedy is true, and we will refund to anyone the price of the remedy not satisfied with the results obtained. Remember, Romes is guaranteed and sold by manner that Nature intended should be followed out, and you cease to know pain.

RICKERT & WELLS, 1160 North Main St., Barre, Vt.

EXCITING WALK FOR $100.

Harvard Man Won His Wager, but Was Pestered by Heedlums.

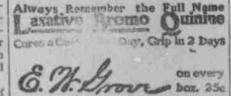

Followed by an obstreperous crowd of hoodiums, shouting and shooting at every step, and smiled at by maidens, Mason Whiting of Harvard walked thirty miles, from the Oakley Country club in Waverly to a spot near Scituate Beach, covering the distance in seven hours and twelve minutes and thereby winning $100 from one of his college mates, who bet that the distance could not be covered in less than seven hours and a half, says a Cambridge special time disseminates sweet harmony, but to the New York World.

Although Whiting won, his friends had plenty of fun at his expense. Previous to his attempt bills were distributed profusely along the route announcing the day and the hour on which he would appear and advertisgum to the women, tobacco to the men and football suits and baseballs to the boys living in the districts through that when he remonstrated the grinder which he was to pass. with one ac portion of the population, and whenever Whiting appeared he was assailed by crowds of little muckers, whose yells of "Hey, there! Gimme me football pants!" and, "Say, mister, where's dat baseball?" followed him as persistently as the clatter of his own foottimes these crowds grew to such alarming proportions that he could with difficulty force his way through them. Then, knowing that time was valuable, he would duck into a store where his youthful satellites dared not follow and would throw them temporarily off his track by stealing out the back door and running on through alleys and If the culprit plays "Why Did They over garbage heaps as fast as he could.

which causes them, and in the bay of Biscay frequently during the autumn and winter in calm weather a heavy sea gets up and rolls in on the coast twenty-four hours before the gale which causes it arrives and of which it is the prelude.

CENSOR OF HAND ORGANS.

Hartford's Police Board Calls Cpon Chief Ryan to Say What Is Music. Chief of Police Ryan of Hartford, Conn., has been declared by the board of police commissioners to be the city's musical censor, and it will be up to him in the future to decide when a street organ is an instrument disseminating harmony and when it is a nuisance, says the Hartford Post. There are people who hold that a street organ is at all times a nuisance and at ne the commissioners came to the conclusion that they did have rights on the streets, and they put it up to Chief Ryan to decide when they exceed those rights. The matter came up in the form of a complaint from C. P. Sweet, a dealer in ing that he would distribute chewing oils, who wrote that one of the organs ground out distressing strains near his place of business for over an hour and told him to go to that locality where or-Naturally these notices were taken gan grinders have been mentally consigned by thous first came into existence. Mr. Sweet went to the police station instead, but was unable to obtain satisfaction.

After considering this complaint the commissioners decided that there were times when an organ was a nuisance and placed the matter in Chief Ryan's steps on the hard stone walks. At hands, as previously stated. Naturally the chief will have to hear the music before he can decide the question, and consequently concerts may be looked for daily at the police station. An organ grinder complained of as a unisance will presumably be hauled to the police station, and there Chief Ryan will give him or his organ a hearing. Sell Killarney?" or something of that sort he will probably stand a fairly Waves travel faster than the wind good show of having his efforts considered music, but if he ever strikes up "Hiawatha" or similar selections be will in all probability be adjudged a nuisance on the spot and be locked up in the dungeon.

> "Washed Silver." The danger of contagion in dirty money passed from hand to hand promiscuously has occurred to many people. Thackeray once wrote of a club in London where it was the custom to give the members such change as they might require in "washed sliver." That would not be a bad idea in any bush ness where money is not too rapidly turned over.

Rich Milk from Our Own Herd. (Telephone 214-13.) Everything Under Best Sanitary Conditions.

Keep them in the house. Take one when you feel bilious or dizzy. They act directly on